All 21 Congress Ministers quit to save Govt.

- Big question mark on survival of Government
- CM seeks postponement of Assembly Session
- Minister H. Nagesh resigns; flies to Mumbai
- Minister S.R. Mahesh blamed for Vishwanath's resignation

Mulbagal Independent MLA and Minister H. Nagesh handing over his resignation letter to Governor Vajubhai Rudabhai Vala this morning.

Bengaluru, July 8 (KMS& BCT)- In a major development in the three-day-old Karnataka political crisis, all 21 Congress Ministers, including Deputy CM Dr. G. Parameshwara have resigned to make way for rebel MLAs to occupy plum posts. But despite all efforts, a resolution seems like a distant goal for the coalition Government.

The resignations were submitted to Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and Congress Legislature Party leader and former CM Siddharamaiah as an attempt to salvage the situation and accommodate the rebel MLAs within the Cabinet.

Armed with resignation letters, Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and his Deputy Dr. Parameshwara met Governor Vajubhai Rudabhai Vala at Raj Bhavan and requested him to postpone the Assembly session that was called from July 12 to a later date. In the wake of resignations of Congress Ministers, the Government has to be reconstituted and more time is needed for this, the Governor was told.

The woes of the Congress-JD(S) combine worsened this morning putting a big question mark on the survival of the Government after Mulbagal Independent MLA and Minister H. Nagesh quit his post and said he was ready to support the BJP.

Nagesh flies to Mumbai

Moments after submitting his resignation letter to the Governor, Nagesh flew to Mumbai to join the group of rebel MLAs who are holed up at Sofitel Hotel and Resorts in the upscale Bandra-Kurla Complex in Mumbai.

Star-status in society

The saying that a king is bestowed a place of importance in the territory of his reign while a scholar of eminence commands respect everywhere may need a revisit in our times given the current scenario of persons who are neither royalty nor have claims to scholarship or eminence in any calling passing off with star-status in society, one of that kind being marked with wealth of monetary value in astronomical proportions, not to forget the other kinds enjoying political clout through dubious means that don't need elaboration. The part played by those anonymous lot and publicity in the land's media virtually hoisting some persons to the pinnacle as a star in society are factors that don't seem to have been appreciated or accepted by people at large who take fascination to shower praises on their heroes. Unsung and unhonoured martyrs of wars, both won and lost, have to remain anonymous while their chief hogs all the glory or faces infamy as the case may be. Chronicles about India's freedom movement, per force or otherwise, sidelined thousands of footsoldiers who sacrificed their everything in life while only a handful number of persons enjoyed importance.

While many texts of India's ancient literature in both prose and lyric forms are not attributed (apourusheya) to any author with known identity, the texts, regarded as scriptures, themselves have been conferred star-status that has endured for centuries. Even those who merely quote them in their public speeches are known to arrest attention of their captive audiences and thus look important in society.

The radiance that goes with society's respectful recognition of persons, both in their lifetime and long after they have departed, depends on the value that society's members attach to their achievements. Mass appeal and rating of persons by those with refined ways are different kettles of fish, as varied as the wide range of human pursuits. Teachers may be bestowed filial respect for their both teaching excellence and love for their students, legal practitioners may enjoy awesome image in society for their incisive presentation of cases earning praise even from the judiciary, bureaucrats may hog name and fame for their upright character and so on. This week, the world witnessed a rare phenomenon of an elderly lady, all of 87 years age, hogging attention during a sporting event amidst more than 20,000 spectators watching the event in the stands. All she did was to rise from her seat and blow a lung-bursting multicoloured trumpet to cheer the country's cricket team, becoming an instant super-fan, overshadowing the sport and the sportspersons in one shot.

In the foregoing backdrop, nobody need to feel that the avenues for attaining star-status in society has no barriers of age, faith, language, economic strength and so on. To sustain star-status is another matter.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

This is the mango season and some Members of Parliament who own orchards have been gifting the fruit to their colleagues in the House. At the customary Rajya Sabha meeting of leaders of all political parties on Tuesday, the discussion turned to mangoes. The Samajwadi Party's Ram Gopal Yadav, who is from Uttar Pradesh, said chausa was the best variety. The Nationalist Congress Party's Majeed Memon, who is from Maharashtra, said no mango variety could beat hapus, while the Delhi-based Aam Aadmi Party's Sanjay Singh batted for dussehri and the Trinamool Congress' Derek O'Brien, from West Bengal, for malda. As one MP later put it, the meeting reached a consensus on all issues that were expected to be placed before the House that day except on the best variety of mangoes.

Man almost buried alive

Lucknow: A youth in Lucknow was almost buried alive after the private hospital where he was admitted wrongfully pronounced him dead.

20-year-old Mohammad Furqan was involved in an accident on the 21st of June and was taken to a hospital for treatment. He was in critical condition and after his family exhausted their savings paying for his medical bills, doctors declared him dead. Furqan's devastated relatives immediately started making preparations for his funeral, but after his body was brought home by an ambulance, his older brother was shocked to see that he still moved his limbs. He notified the other members of the family and after making sure that he wasn't seeing things, they took him to another hospital where doctors confirmed he was still alive.

Lady tips $5,000 using boyfriend's card, arrested

Florida: A Florida woman who left a $5,000 tip to a waitress using her boyfriend's credit card to get back at him after an argument has been arrested.

24-year-old Serina Wolfe was arrested on a felony theft charge for allegedly using her boyfriend's credit card to leave an unusually generous $5,000 tip, or 10,000% of her total bill, at the Clear Sky Cafe in Clearwater Beach, on June 27. The waitress initially thought that Wolfe was simply incredibly generous, but later learned that the 24-year-old had gotten into an argument with her boyfriend and used his credit card just to take revenge on him.

Wolfe's boyfriend Crane claims he reported the $5,000 charge to his credit card as fraudulent, but by the time the restaurant was notified, it had already paid the generous tip to the waitress. To make matters worse, the money was particularly meaningful to the recipient who was going through a tough time after putting down her dog.

Airport expansion plan hits roadblock

Farmers demand Rs. 1.80 crore per acre while officials offer Rs. 1.50 crore

An official from KIADB is seen addressing the farmers on the land to be acquired for Mysore Airport expansion as Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar and other officials look on. Picture right shows an ATR plane of Alliance Air on the runway of Mysore Airport at Mandakalli.

Mysuru, July 8 (SPN&BCT)- The Mysore Airport expansion plan has hit a fresh roadblock with farmers refusing to part with the land and demanding a higher compensation. The District Administration needs around 300 acres of land near Mandakalli on Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway for acquisition to expand the Mysore Airport for facilitating international flights.

The Centre has already cleared the proposal to construct a runway above the Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway and has earmarked Rs.700 crore for the first phase of work. At present, the Airport at Mandakalli has a single runway of 5,700 feet in length which is only suitable for ATR planes providing short-haul flight operations.

The existing airport is spread over 490 acres and under the expansion project, the length of the runway will be increased to 7,900 feet and 45 metres width that allows jet aircraft such as Boeing 737 and Airbus A320 to land at Mysore Airport.

At a meeting held between farmers, land owners and the District Administration at Agricultural Marketing Training College on Hunsur Road on Saturday farmers demanded more compensation. As such, the meeting, chaired by Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar failed to come to any consensus.

In the earlier two meetings held on the same issue, the farmers had demanded a compensation of Rs. 2 crore per acre and the report regarding this was sent to the State Government. But as per the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB) Act, Rs. 2 crore cannot be provided per acre and as such, the State Government had returned the proposal to the District Administration.

Following this, DC Abhiram Sankar proposed a sum of Rs. 1.20 crore per acre which was not acceptable to the farmers who demanded at least Rs. 1.80 crore. Sensing that farmers will not agree to Rs. 1.20 crore, officials proposed Rs. 1.50 crore per acre and the farmers stood ground and demanded Rs. 1.80 crore. The issue reached a deadlock as both officials and the farmers remained firm on their stand.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, President of Hasiru Sene Badagalapura Nagendra said that when the Nanjangud-Mysuru State Highway was upgraded to National Highway, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) had paid a compensation of Rs. 2.5 crore per acre.

He alleged that the District Administration was adopting a discrimination policy as the land for the Airport expansion too is commercial in nature and the farmers deserved similar compensation as was paid by the NHAI. He said that when the NHAI itself paid Rs. 2.5 crore, the KIADB too can pay the same amount to the farmers who are set to permanently lose their land.

Commenting on the outcome of the meeting, DC Abhiram Sankar said that while the KIADB proposed Rs. 1.50 crore, farmers were demanding Rs. 1.80 crore. "We will send the report to the Government and the final decision on the compensation will be taken by the Government," he said.

The expansion of the Airport is dependent on extending the runway which in turn depends on the 400-metre to 600-metre-long underpass that will be built on Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway. This is because the alignment of the runway and the Highway bisect each other. The underpass idea was mooted as the road diversion was an expensive proposition. Once the underpass is constructed, the Highway will pass below the extended runway.

The underpass will be constructed by the National Highways Authority of India and the project cost of Rs. 700 crore has also been factored in the cost of the underpass. The Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS) has already given the security clearance for the underpass.

B'luru advocates must be indebted to Nadaprabhu: Former HC Judge

Mysuru, July 8(MK&DM)- Former High Court Judge H.G. Ramesh has said that Nadaprabhu Kempegowda was responsible for Bengaluru advocates to lead a contented life.

He was speaking after inaugurating Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Jayanti celebrations organised by Mysuru Bar Association at the City Courts Complex here yesterday.

Observing that because of Nadaprabhu, Bengaluru advocates are earning much more now than earlier, Ramesh said that Bengaluru, founded by Kempegowda has now grown by leaps and bounds to become one of the biggest cities of the world.

Pointing out that Bengaluru is attracting many people from other parts of the State, he opined that advocates too are growing with the expansion of the capital.

Noting that Nadaprabhu Kempegowda had a great vision for Bengaluru, he said that water bodies, green cover and such other initiatives are the Bengaluru Founder's contribution for the city.

Recalling his days in Mysuru as a junior lawyer and a lecturer, he attributed his success in the profession and as a High Court Judge to University of Mysore.

Cautioning Judges against falling prey to allurements, he said that though there may be an inadvertent error in judgement sometimes, necessary steps must be taken to ensure that such errors do not recur.

Observing that there is no retirement for advocates, the former HC Judge emphasised on the need for advocates to be always in the loop of learning.

Maintaining that learning from experience is more important than securing high marks in academics, he opined that attending to hearing in Court daily and studying the judgements will be of great help to the advocate fraternity.

Principal District and Sessions Court Judge Suresh K. Vantigodi in his address, lauded the contribution of Kempegowda. He pointed out that imbibing the values advocated by Kempegowda would be the best service we can do for the founder of Bengaluru.

Bharath Jnanabhivruddhi Trust President Talakad Chikkarangegowda, Mysuru Bar Association President S. Anand Kumar, Vice-President S.G. Shivannegowda, Secretary Shivanna, Karnataka Bar Council Member Chandramouli, Appaji Gowda, and others were present.

Weak monsoon: Use water judiciously

Sir,

This year we citizens may have to face severe water shortage due to weak monsoon. Hence, as a concerned citizen, I thought of sharing a few points to make people aware of the better usage of water thus helping in lesser consumption of water on a day-to-day basis.

I see many people using lot of water to wash their cars with free flow from pipes. Instead they can wash very efficiently with a little bit of more effort with only a bucket full of water as had appeared in SOM Special Issue dated Feb. 16 about the person washing the cars on Devaraj Urs Road with only one bucket of water and that too quite efficiently.

Another usual waste of water is seen wherein people wash their compound walls with water to remove the summer dust and also clean the tarred roads in front of their houses. This involves huge quantity of treated water going waste and as the tar and water are born enemies, the road also gets easily damaged.

Same thing happens with the houses under construction. The water, after used to cure the plastering etc., very liberally flows onto the roads and the roads get damaged with constant stagnation. Instead they should stop using treated tap water for constructions and at the same time make the waste water flow into the drain or to some nearby trees so that roads are saved to a great extent.

It is a known fact that every drop counts and every drop saved is a big boon. So I feel all of us should find ways and means to save water for the future without wasting the precious life-saving liquid.

Non-functional street-lights on Outer Ring Road

Sir,

Driving after dusk on Outer Ring Road from Columbia Asia Hospital Junction towards Rajivnagar, Sathagalli Bus Depot is a nightmare.

There are street-lights which have been installed but are never switched on and it is pitch dark after dusk. Added to this problem, many autos and two-wheelers enter the Service Road from the wrong side on the stretch from Narayana Hospital to Columbia Asia right under the nose of the Traffic Police posted at the Junction. This has led to accidents since many heavy trucks are parked along the Service Road blocking the complete view at the left hand turn.

I urge the authorities concerned to look into the matter and make the street-lights functional.

Wealth and Growth

Feng Shui can be said to be a tool to overcome many obstacles in the life of a person and it does not seem to have a specific boundary or limitation in terms of adaptation.

Although Feng Shui has been seen as an art of space design, it can be used to address specific aspirations in a person's life. In Feng Shui, relationship, health, progeny, career, prosperity and wealth are few important and the focal point while designing or furnishing a building.

Activating money luck through Feng Shui is something which calls for a meticulous planning and execution. The place of dwelling or office would be the main focal point in activating such aspirations.

Everything you see, touch, and live with on a daily basis has an energetic vibration that is interacting with your energetic vibration, affecting it mightily.

Money is energy hence creating the right environment to allow it flow is essential in Feng Shui practices. When the energy in your home and workspace flows, the easier it is for money to flow into your life, promoting healthy finances.

Apart from activating wealth luck, what is more important is to sustain the opportunity that comes. Hence, its not just activating wealth but maintaining the flow and sustaining what comes in. Financial growth is not just increase in income but it also refers to saving and having the heart to give charity. The cycle of inflow and outflow symbolises energy movement hence abundance and financial growth have a deeper meaning. Art of giving requires a 'Heart to give' which signifies Financial growth.

The science of Feng Shui attaches a lot of importance to unhindered flow of energy to usher in prosperity and out of the five elements in Feng Shui, the element water is said to signify wealth and career. Hence, flowing water and water features have a lot of importance in terms of their placement and direction of flow.

Few important Feng Shui recommendations for activating career growth and wealth are:

• Stop leaky faucets and taps: A dripping faucet or a leak in the ceiling indicates draining of money hence get them fixed. After all, when you fix something in your home, you are fixing it in your life.

• Entrance and door: Opportunity is said to knock at the door, hence when it's attractive and looking its best, it brings in new opportunity and growth.

• Burners and stove cleaning: Fire energy is said to usher in growth and prosperity hence a stove with clogged burners and improper flame is said to indicate clogged flow of funds. Keeping the stove and burners clean is essential.

• Toilet door and lid shut: The toilet holds a downward spiraling energy. When you close the lid, you are protecting Chi (energy) from going down and away from you. Hence keeping the toilet door and the lid shut is important.

• De-clutter cupboards: Keep the cupboards where you place your wealth safe clean. Avoid clutter and ensure that the wealth safe always has money in it and is not hidden under clutter.

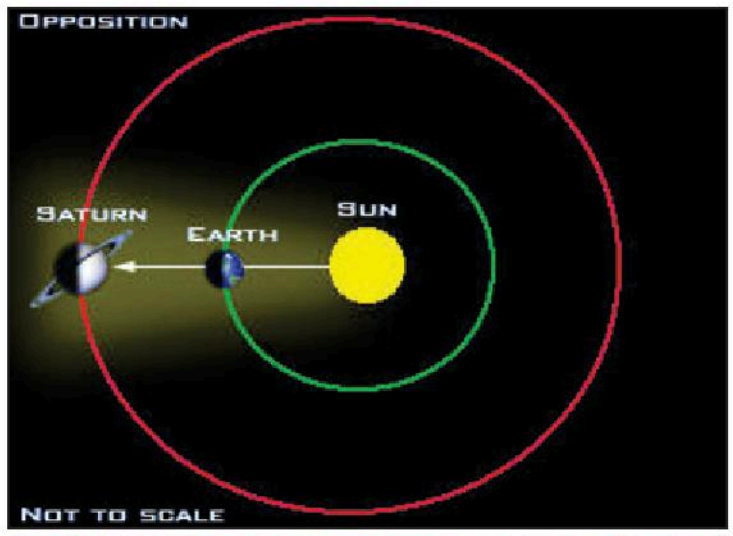
Saturn, the ringed planet to reach 'opposition' tomorrow



As Saturn takes 29 years to make a single circuit of the Sun, this happens once a year, it actually takes a year and a few extra days because Saturn moves against the background sky a bit — the last 'opposition' was on June 27, 2018 and June 15, 2017.

Saturn is the sixth planet from the Sun and the outermost planet perfectly noticeable with the unaided eye. The imperative physical distinctiveness like magnitude, composition, internal configuration and atmosphere advocate an overall similitude to Saturn.

Saturn's rings are well-known and were explored in great detail by the Voyager and Cassini missions. Saturn's rings has unmitigated, disc-like, effortlessly conspicuous with even a small telescope, which envelops Saturn.

Saturn reaches 'opposition' on July 9, 2019 and so it has its best visibility this month.

The specialty of this astronomical happening is that, the planet Saturn becomes more beautiful, also the best time to witness the planet. On that day, the planet will be closer to earth.

Throughout the night, Saturn is discernible and more resplendent. Presently, Saturn is perceptible in the south-eastern direction at 9 pm clearly in between the constellations 'Sagittarius' and 'Capricornus.' On July 9, the distance between Saturn and Earth will be 1352 million kilometres.

'Opposition' is the astronomical occurrence when a planet farther from the Sun than Earth appears opposite the Sun in the sky.

Rightfully, this is the best time to observe a planet. A planet is at 'opposition' when it is directly opposite the Sun from our viewpoint on Earth. This implies, Sun-Earth-planet is in a straight line. This is when the planet is about as close as it can get to Earth, so it is biggest and brightest.

Conveniently, the planet rises when the Sun sets and is up all night, setting when the Sun rises.

An object is at 'opposition' when the Sun is on one side of the Earth and the object is directly on the opposite side.

The result is that the object is fully illuminated by the sun and appears disk-like. Whenever there is a full moon, the moon is on one side of the Earth and the Sun is on the opposite side.

'Opposition' is when a planet appears on the opposite side of the sky from the Sun. As Saturn takes 29 years to make a single circuit of the Sun, this happens once a year, it actually takes a year and a few extra days because Saturn moves against the background sky a bit — the last 'opposition' was on June 27, 2018 and June 15, 2017.

Saturn and Jupiter happen to be the planets clearly perceptible in the sky for most of the night. Through a telescope, Saturn's moon Titan is visible just to the south of the planet itself in most telescopes that will be towards the top of the image. The rings are also at their brightest, as the planet is tilted in such a way that Saturn is facing the Earth and we see it from an angle north of the planet's equator.

Earth and Saturn orbit the Sun at different angles. That gives us slowly but dramatically changing perspectives on the planet. Sometimes, we are looking at Saturn edge-on and the rings practically disappear. That will happen in 2025. Other times, Saturn is tilted towards us so much; we get a somewhat broad view of the rings. The next time we'll get a broad view of the rings will be in 2020 and 2021. One pole of the planet will be hidden from the rings. There are 62 natural satellites orbiting Saturn.

The largest is Titan and it's the second largest moon in the solar system. Titan's bigger than Mercury. It has an atmosphere that's 95% nitrogen. Saturn appears to have a muddy terrain with sand dunes. The sand could actually be water ice crystals. Winds on Titan are caused by Saturn's gravity tugging on the moon's atmosphere. Titan's the moon you're most able to see in a telescope.

A superior planet revolves around the Sun in an orbit further away from the Sun than the Earth. Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus Neptune, and Pluto are superior planets in the Solar System.

When a superior planet, the Earth and the Sun align in a straight line with the Earth in between, it is known as 'opposition.' When the superior planet and the Earth lie on the opposite sides of the Sun, it is known as 'conjunction.' During 'opposition,' the superior planet will be closest to the Earth and it would be a suitable time for observing the superior planet.

All the planets farther from the Sun reach 'opposition' every time our swifter-moving planet sweeps between the Sun and them.

Saturn, the sixth planet outward from the Sun, is the most distant world that's easily visible to the unaided eye. So that's Saturn at 'opposition' tonight. Shining in the east at nightfall, near the bright star Spica, Saturn looks like a respectably bright steady star.

Saturn and Spica climb upward throughout the night and ascend to their highest point around midnight. When it's high in the sky, where Earth's turbulent atmosphere thins out and settles down, Saturn is a treat for telescope users, who can view the planet's glorious rings.

Saturn appears cream-white in colour and is among the brightest star-like objects in our sky this winter. Saturn in 2019 rises earlier and continues to creep higher above the southeastern horizon earlier each night.

Saturn was visible in the east by 11 pm in early May and June by 10 pm. On July 9, Saturn will have very close encounter with Earth and is the best time for observing Saturn. Jupiter and Saturn have planned to dominate this year captivatingly!

In July, one can witness the planets 'Mars' and 'Mercury' in the western direction after sunset clearly. Even in the spring months, Saturn does not shrink in apparent size greatly so its rings will still be readily seen through July, August and September. Do not forget to see Saturn this month. With the help of telescope and astral binoculars, none can rival the glory of Saturn.

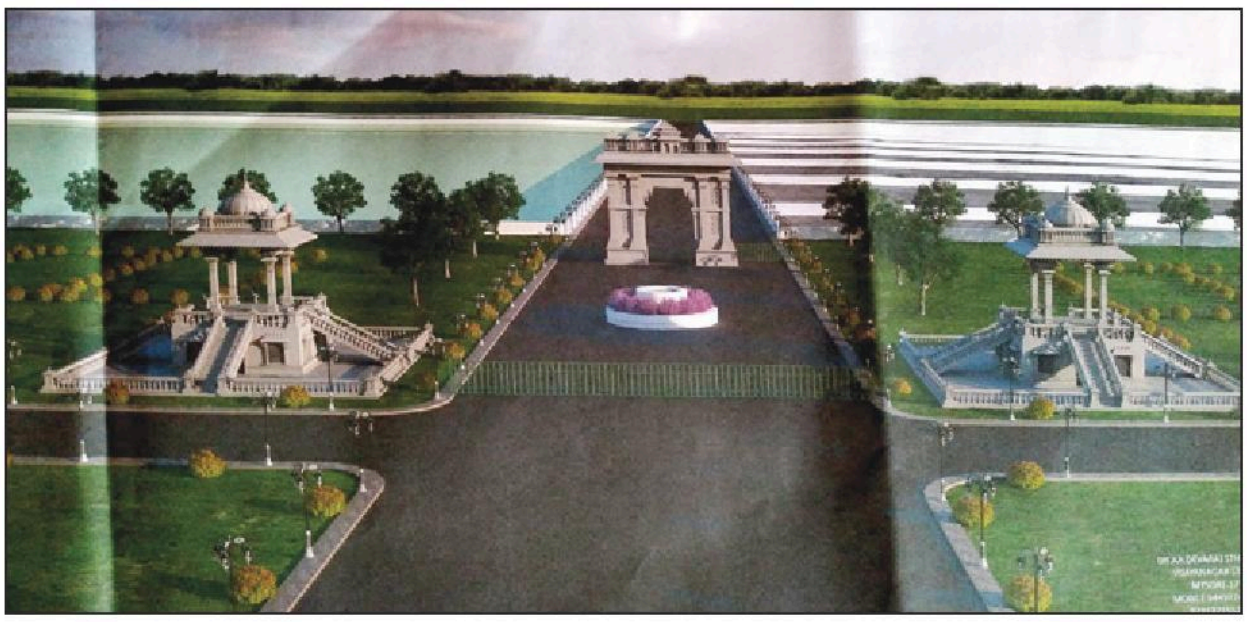
Re-inventing history: Museum planned at KRS Dam site

Statues of Nalwadi and Sir MV to be installed near entrance



A blueprint of the statue structures that will come up at KRS. Picture right shows Srirangapatna MLA Ravindra Sreekantaiah performing bhoomi puja at the Dam site yesterday.

Srirangapatna, July 8 (Vinay Karekura&BCT)- Every monsoon season, the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam is invariably or rather inevitably in the focus because if it is full to the brim, there is water for South Karnataka and Tamil Nadu. If it is not full, panic grips the entire region as water crisis is imminent.

Though the KRS holds such an important place in our lives, there is no permanent physical structure or a facility to learn about its history, the idea behind it and the brain who built the mammoth structure and also the people who sacrificed their happiness to fund the Dam construction for the larger good of the society.

Over the years, there has been a demand for a museum on Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar who funded the project and Sir M. Visvesvaraya (MV), the Engineer-Extraordinaire who planned and executed the project. Realising the demand, the Karnataka Water Resources Department has plans to establish a museum near the main entrance of KRS.

Also, the statues of Nalwadi and Visvesvaraya will be installed near the entrance of KRS gathering the attention of every visitor and the ground-breaking ceremony was held yesterday by Srirangapatna MLA Ravindra Sreekantaiah. The statues will be built at a cost of Rs. 8.5 crore.

The mantaps with domes will be built with Doddaballapur stones and the statues will be built with white marble stone on the lines of the statues of Krishnaraja Wadiyar and Jayachamaraja Wadiyar that have been built in the heart of Mysuru City.

The inside of the mantaps will have a width and length of 24x24 feet and will be 46 feet tall. The outer circumference of the mantaps will have a width and length of 67X67 feet. The statues per se will be 8-feet high and will stand on 3-feet pedestals.

A Mysuru-based contractor has been given the tender to complete the project in 12 to 18 months, an officer said. The mantaps will have content on the life, achievements and contribution of both personalities, the officer added.

Apart from Sir M. Visvesvaraya, who is the leading figure in building the Dam, the proposed museum will feature other people who had contributed to build the massive structure — like Diwan Sir Mirza Ismail who had also planned and built the Brindavan Gardens. The museum will enhance visitors' knowledge on the KRS reservoir and Brindavan Gardens.

The museum will narrate stories on how Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar mortgaged the Mysore royal family's ornaments to complete the construction of KRS. The museum will contain files, photocopies of important documents, photographs of the construction process etc.

It will also have photographs of famous personalities who visited KRS and of members of the erstwhile royal family. The museum will contain audio and visual content for a better viewer experience, officials added.

Trishikha Wadiyar enjoys an evening of 'Garbha' dance

Mysuru, July 8 (YDS&US)- The ongoing Gujarat Handicrafts Utsav-2019 at JSS Urban Haat in Hebbal Industrial Area here featured a beautiful traditional 'Garbha' dance by artistes from Gujarat and a dance by a young kid last evening.

The 'Garbha' dance to the foot-tapping rhythmic song prompted the visitors too to shake their legs with enthusiasm. The programme was inaugurated by Trishikha Kumari Wadiyar, who was joined by the Gujarat artistes and visitors seeking for a selfie with her which she duly obliged.

The cultural programme that began yesterday would go on for one week in the evenings.

JSS Technical Education Director Dr. C. Ranganathaiah, Joint Director B.R. Umakanth, Gujarat Industrial Extension College Marketing Manger Dr. S.D. Makwana and Programme Co-ordinator Rakesh Rai were present.

Handicrafts expo-cum-sale

The Expo to conclude on July 14 has a variety of Bandini sarees, Embroidered bed sheets, towels, cushion covers, environment friendly jewels, dress materials, clay items, bead works, metal works, kurtis, cholis and other handicraft items at affordable prices.

For the foodies, there is an array of Gujarati delicacies to tickle the taste-buds.

Women of Gowda family humiliated me, says K.R. Pet rebel MLA

Bengaluru, July 8- K.R. Pet rebel JD(S) MLA K.C. Narayanagowda yesterday held women members of former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda's family responsible for his decision to resign from his Assembly membership.

Stirring a hornet's nest, Narayanagowda told media that he was forced to resign because Deve Gowda's family constantly interfered in the administration. "I was repeatedly humiliated by women members of Gowda's family. They constantly interfered in my Constituency work and supported my opponents. Both Gowda and his son Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy did nothing to help me despite my repeated requests," he told reporters.

He claimed he was made to stand in a corner in Gowda's house when he went there while opponents from his Constituency were made to sit at the dining table with them. "It was humiliating as we the elected representatives are made to stand near the place where Deve Gowda's family kept their slippers," he said.

Party insiders admit that all of Deve Gowda's six children interfere in the administration and transfers in one way or the other. Anasuya, Deve Gowda's eldest daughter (his muddina magalu - beloved daughter) and Shylaja, his younger daughter, have been known to treat MLAs and MLCs 'like dirt', say party sources.

Besides them, H.D. Balakrishna, a retired KAS Officer and H.D. Ramesh also interfere in the day-to-day administration, they say. Complaints of interference against Anasuya are many. She was also considered for K.R. Pet Constituency as JD(S) candidate.

Anasuya is the wife of Dr. C.N. Manjunath, Director of Jayadeva Group of Hospitals.

Narayanagowda alleged that it was they who had prevailed on Nikhil Kumaraswamy to contest the Lok Sabha elections from Mandya. "We advised Nikhil that the elections will be a tough fight against Sumalatha Ambarish who finally managed to win the polls," Narayanagowda said.

"In have no grouse against Kumaraswamy, brother Revanna or Nikhil but only against Deve Gowda's elder daughter. Many times we had apprised Kumaraswamy but that did not yield any results. Neither bills on drilling of borewells were cleared nor sufficient funds released for local development work in my Constituency. Tell me how can we fulfil the aspirations of the people in such a situation," he asked the media.

Continuing his tirade, the JD(S) MLA said that he had no powers to identify candidates and give party tickets for the Municipal elections. "A grant of Rs. 6 crore was given to my political opponent for taking up development work in my Constituency. I can give you many examples like these where the MLAs are humiliated and projected as villains in front of the people of their Constituencies," he added.

Interestingly, former JD(S) State President A.H. Vishwanath (now among the MLAs who have resigned) also blamed the Gowda family for not giving him a free hand. "I was a JD(S) State Unit President only in name," he said.

Deve Gowda

Narayanagowda

Family politics, bane of JD(S)

JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda has obviously not learnt any lessons from the severe drubbing he and his party received in the recent Lok Sabha polls, where the voters outright rejected the family brand of politics patented by him.

Though regional parties in other States are no less dynastic, many of them have built a strong leadership team outside the family circle. The JD(S) once boasted of some of the tallest leaders in the State, but most of them have now migrated to other parties, with those who remained back fading into oblivion.

The party is now in such a pathetic condition that it could not even muster half-a-dozen candidates to field during the recent Lok Sabha elections, while its area of influence is confined to just a few districts of the State.

Regional outfits have never survived in Karnataka and Gowda deserves credit for keeping JD(S) afloat for so long, but due to his family-comes-first policy, the party has failed to emerge as a strong alternative to the Congress and BJP.

Though Gowda calls himself 'mannina maga' or son of the soil, his party has not succeeded in appropriating regional issues like federalism, 'Hindi imposition', injustice to locals in banks and Central Government jobs or Mahadayi water dispute, which are trending among the youth. The party which could have established itself as a credible voice of the Kannadigas has simply frittered away a golden opportunity that was offered to it on a platter.

Maharashtra BJP workers guarding rebel MLAs?

Mumbai, July 8- The movement of all the MLAs staying at the plush Sofitel Hotel in Mumbai is restricted. Wherever the MLAs move inside the hotel, they are guarded by the BJP workers, say sources from Mumbai. Apart from BJP workers, sources said even Maharashtra Police personnel, dressed in uniforms and mufti, are keeping a close watch in and around the hotel.

The rebels who held a series of meetings inside the Sofitel hotel were adamant this time and said that even though senior Congress and JD(S) are approaching them to change their mind, they would not. They also categorically said that even if the sitting Congress Ministers quit to make way for them they would not change their mind, sources said.

'It's not my personal jet'

Meanwhile, Karnataka Rajya Sabha MP from BJP Rajiv Chandrashekhar who has been questioned about allowing the rebel MLAs to use his personal jet, he said he had no role in the ongoing Karnataka crisis and added saying, "if someone uses any plane, they pay for that. If someone is going or using 'Vistara' (the airline he owns), it doesn't mean that the particular company is involved in the development," he said.

Uproar in Parliament over Karnataka crisis

BJP leader Rajnath Singh says Rahul Gandhi started the resignation drive

New Delhi, July 8 (UNI)- The Lok Sabha this morning witnessed brief uproar over the political crisis in Karnataka. As soon as the Lok Sabha assembled for the day, the MPs of the Congress rose to protest alleged ploy by the ruling BJP to topple coalition Government in Karnataka. They waved papers with "Save Democracy" printed on them.

The leader of the Congress in the Lok Sabha, Adhir Choudhury, and its Chief Whip, Kodikunnil Suresh, earlier in the morning submitted a notice to Speaker Om Birla seeking to move an adjournment motion in the House, in the wake of the political crisis in Karnataka.

As soon as the LS Speaker took his seat and started the proceedings of the House, the Congress MPs rose to insist on permission to move the adjournment motion. They also raised slogans blaming the BJP for the political crisis in the State. The MPs of the Congress' ally All India Anna Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam also rose to join the clamour. The Speaker did not allow Choudhury or Suresh to move the adjournment motion but assured them that he would allow them to speak on the issue later. The Congress and AIADMK MPs relented on the assurance of the Speaker and took seats. The Speaker then started the proceedings of the Question Hour.

Reacting to the allegation, Union Defence Minister and BJP leader Rajnath Singh said, "Our party has nothing to do with what is happening in Karnataka. We have never given any inducement to any MP or MLA ever. BJP has nothing to do with what is happening in Congress. Rahul Gandhi started the resignation drive. We're committed to maintaining dignity of Parliamentary Democracy."

Congress Ministers quit to save Government

In his resignation letter, Nagesh expressed willingness to extend support to the BJP in case it stakes claim to form the Government. "I have already withdrawn my support to the Government headed by H.D. Kumaraswamy. I would further by this letter unequivocally state that I would extend my support to the Government of Bharatiya Janata Party if called for by your goodself," he wrote.

What was the trigger?

Soon after Nagesh left for Mumbai, all 21 Congress Ministers submitted their resignations to placate rebel MLAs and sources said that Nagesh's resignation triggered en masse resignations of Congress Ministers in a desperate attempt to save the coalition Government.

The development comes even as Kumaraswamy met rebel Congress MLA Ramalinga Reddy amid the ongoing crisis in the State precipitated by the resignation of 13 Congress-JD(S) MLAs, which has threatened to topple the 14-month-old alliance Government.

S.R. Mahesh blamed

Soon after he arrived from the US, Kumaraswamy began marathon meetings with Congress leaders and JD(S) MLAs. He also spoke to his father Deve Gowda and Minister-brother Revanna on how to diffuse the crisis. His meetings went on till late in the night and they remained inconclusive.

According to sources, the coalition leaders agreed to offer Ministerial berths to former JD(S) State President Vishwanath and MLA Gopalaiah, and Board Chairman's post to K.R. Pet MLA Narayanagowda, but they remained adamant. In the late night meeting, most MLAs blamed Tourism Minister Mahesh for Vishwanath's resignation, sources said.

Ready for sacrifice

Congress leader D.K. Shivakumar said, "In the interest of the party, we are ready to sacrifice any post. Whatever decision will be taken, AICC General Secretary K.C. Venugopal will brief. The Chief Minister is here, General Secretary is here." On Minister H. Nagesh's resignation, Shivakumar said, "He has to submit his resignation to the Chief Minister as per protocol."

Addressing the media over the current crisis, Venugopal said, "We do agree a situation has arisen. Some have grievances, of course. In a democracy, we cannot accommodate everyone. Yesterday and today we had detailed discussion. Today we met all Ministers. The Ministers themselves voluntarily resigned and entrusted party to reshuffle."

International Youth Hostel, Mysuru at Gokulam

The idea of Youth Hostel germinated in Germany when a school teacher Richard Schirrman thought of this concept in 1909. His dream was to see that students, along with studies, must travel, experience and understand nature, people and places and while they were travelling they could stay at nights in schools and other safe places. This slowly came to be known as Hostelling.

It is a matter of great significance that this movement which took nearly forty years to reach the country was started in Mysuru and now the two-day State-level Youth Hostel Conference is being organised here for the first time.

Prof. Eagleton, a Cambridge Graduate, who came to Mysuru and taught in Maharaja's College, started this idea of Youth Hostelling here in 1949.

Later, in 1954 Prof. G.R. Padaki, who was looking after Youth Hostel, shifted it to Delhi where he continued to head the organisation.

Here the Youth Hostel Movement got a further fillip with expeditions to the Himalayas and other adventure activities.

In order for the students and youth who participated in such activities to stay, Prof. Padaki built a Youth Hostel in Chanakyapuri in Delhi.

Slowly, the Youth Hostels Association of India (YHAI) State units and branches were set up in different parts of the country and thus, more than 500 Hostels have come up.

This is a voluntary organisation with life-membership of 1.5 lakh members.

Youth Hostel back to Mysuru

The Movement, which had faded in Mysuru, was once again revived in 1975 and the credit for this goes to former MLC D. Madegowda who is a disciplinarian and a National Award winner.

He constructed a small building in Gokulam to start the Youth Hostel activities in the land granted to it by the then CITB (City Improvement Trust Board) and now MUDA (Mysuru Urban Development Authority).

As the demand grew and more youth started participating in YHAI activities, the foundation stone for a new building was laid in 2014 and Madegowda contributed Rs.4 lakh from his Legislator's Fund for the construction of International Youth Hostel at Gokulam. On Dec.4, 2016, a massive YHAI structure was inaugurated.

This was not just a Youth Hostel, but 'Academy for Study of Youth Hostelling for Peace and International Understanding' was also set up here.

Through this, Diploma and Certificate courses in adventure sports like cycling, trekking and other activities are offered here.

Youth Hostel revival

The seed capital of Rs.500 was provided by the then Maharaja's College teachers belonging to University of Mysore (UoM), says D. Madegowda.

The main office of Youth Hostel was in Maharaja's College and hence, the credit must be given to the Vice-Chancellor of UoM. The hope is that the teachers and students of the hundred-year-old University must involve themselves in the YHAI activities, he said.

Along with formal education, stress on heritage values, informal education, developing an adventurous spirit, self-confidence and encourage nation-building and protection of country are the main aim of Youth Hostelling.

ZP Members demand change

in admission process to SC/ST Hostels

Mysuru, July 8- Observing that the protracted delay in completing the admission process at pre-matriculation and post-matriculation hostels in the city had made SC/ST students in the taluk wary of coming to Mysuru for studies, ZP Members at the ZP General Meeting here recently, urged the Government to change the admission process in hostels.

ZP Member Beerihundi Basavanna, who had raised the issue at a review meeting held recently, wanted the State Government to modify the existing system, that was not friendly to the students.

Maintaining that students from the rural pockets of Mysuru were facing a lot of hurdles, Basavanna stressed on the need for changing the system.

Prabha, Project Co-ordinator for Integrated Tribal Development Project (ITDP), pointed to the contradictions in the two orders issued by the Government — one in 2013 and the other in September 2018 — for the difficulties in gaining admission to the hostels.

Noting that while the 2013 order said that all students who apply for admission must be admitted in hostels, a subsequent order issued in Sept. 2018 directed not to have students more than the maximum capacity.

Later, ZP President Parimala Shyam and CEO K. Jyothi issued instructions to Social Welfare Department Officials to ensure that at least 70 percent of the applicants were provided accommodation in SC/ST Hostels in the city.

The ZP CEO warned the officials of action if they failed to ensure supply of pure drinking water to anganwadis, schools, hostels and hospitals.

Pointing out that there were complaints of poor quality of food being supplied to some anganwadis, K. Jyothi warned of stringent actions against suppliers if they failed to maintain quality.

She further said that the respective Gram Panchayat staff will be held responsible for any failure in providing drinking water to anganwadis.

WORD OF THE DAY

Schmooze

Pronunciation: SHMOOZ.
Meaning: To converse informally; to chat in a friendly and persuasive manner especially so as to gain favour, business, or connections.
Origin: Schmooze (also spelled shmooze) is one of a small, but significant, number of words borrowed from Yiddish that have become relatively common members of the English language. Other such words include chutzpah, lox, maven, mensch, nebbish, schlep, and schlock. Though classified as a High German language, Yiddish also borrows from the Slavic and Latinate languages as well as from Aramaic and Hebrew. It was the Hebrew shĕmu'ōth ("news, rumor") that provided Yiddish with the noun shmues ("talk") and the verb shmuesn ("to talk or chat"). Although originally used in English to indicate simply talking in an informal and warm manner, schmooze has since also taken on the suggestion of discussion for the purposes of gaining something.
Example: "We're spending less time schmoozing with our co-workers, going from an average of 2.5 hours a week in the mid-1970s to under an hour in 2012." — Katrina Trinko, The Visalia (California) Times-Delta, 7 May 2018.

THE ODD WORD

Sitooterie

A secluded area within a building where people can sit apart from others; an alcove, recess.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A shot across the bows

Meaning: A warning shot, real or metaphorical.
Origin: That most useful reference, Admiral William Smyth's The sailor's word-book: an alphabetical digest of nautical terms, 1865, defines bows thus: "The fore-end of a ship or boat; being the rounding part of a vessel forward, beginning on both sides where the planks arch inwards, and terminating where they close, at the rabbet of the stem or prow, being larboard or starboard from that division". Land-lubbers might find it easier to imagine bows as the 'shoulders' of a boat or ship. And if you don't know the difference between a boat and a ship there's also a land-lubbers guide to that - 'you can get a boat on a ship, but you can't get a ship on a boat'. 'A shot across the bows' derives from naval practice of firing a cannon shot across the bows of an opponent's ship to show them that you are prepared to do battle. The first mention of it is from the Wisconsin Democrat, December 1939, reprinted from The London Metropolitan: "In a very brief space we neared our victim, a large merchantman, whose appearance promised at once an easy conquest and a rich booty. At a signal from Stamar, a shot was fired across her bows to bring her to. She immediately hoisted a white flag."
